FAIRFIELD — A community-led conversation around air quality and city walkability and accessibility will be the focus of a Fairfield Air Quality Roundtable slated for Sunday.

The event, hosted by Sustainable Solano, will be held from noon to 1:30 p.m. in the Vista Conference Room of the Fairfield Community Center, 1000 Kentucky St.

"Share your experiences, connect with others passionate about a healthier environment, and help us making Fairfield a healthier place to live," organizers said in a statement.

To register or for more information, go to SustainableSolano.org/air-quality/ or send an email to alex@sustainablesolano.org.
